Characters combine fun, education for SIUE festival

By Scott Cousins

The sun waxed hot as Matthew Fuesz of Troy awaited his sentence.

The 11-year-old, as notorious a rascal as could ever be found, had finally been brought to justice and placed in the stocks.

His crime — walking on the grass.

As the prisoner was released, a horn sounded across the path, calling all to combat.

After furious battles with broad-swords, quarterstaffs, pole-axes and other such weapons, a lone huntsman stood victorious.

Elsewhere, the king and his court made their way through the village as part of a royal progression, story-tellers and musicians performed.

GRANITE CITY

Talley said they thanked the resident for his concern and told him the solicitation was false.

"The fire department is not soliciting any money at all for the helmet," he said.

Anyone who would want to legitimately donate money to the fire department should send it to Talley in care of the Granite City Fire Department or call them, and a departmental helmet would come out to collect a donation.

In the second case, members of Unity Chapel in Granite City are warning that they have received calls from three other parishes who report they have been solicited by a woman claiming to be helping a family living at Unity.

She gave a call Saturday from a woman saying she was calling for a family staying at her church," said the Rev. Brian Caughan of Trinity Methodist Church.

"She gave a long, involved, sad story" and requested money, he said. "I told her there was nothing I could do but referred her to Catholic Charities."

The woman responded she couldn't do that. The story sounded suspicious to him. After hanging up, Caughan checked the caller ID, saw it was an East St. Louis number with a name different than one he was given, called it but did not reach the woman.

He only called, he said, to get the woman to stop the soliciting and seek longer-term help from the charity and found there was nothing going on there with a family needing help.

"It's hard enough for us pastors to help people," he said. "I'm hoping they realize what they're doing (scam)."

He said he believes whoever attempted the scam thought it through, because only small churches were targeted, where it would be easier to get a story out.

"My guess is they've stopped," he said.

Police warn residents to be careful when approached by anyone asking for money. Maj. Jim Pomroy of the Granite City Police Department said some people will prey on the goodness of churches to panhandle money from them.

"Any time there's someone who does phone solicitation, be very cautious. You can call the agency the solicitor represents," he said.

The police department will help anyone concerned about fraudulent solicitors, he said.

2 phony solicitation campaigns underway here

By Scott Kelly

A couple of scam operations are apparently working in Granite City, and leaders are warning residents to be careful.

In the first, an individual or group is claiming to be raising money for the fire department, said Fire Chief Keith Talley.

"We had a resident come into the office (Tuesday) asking if we were soliciting for the thermal imaging helmet," Talley said.

The resident had received a call from someone soliciting $20 in cash to help support the high-tech helmet.

Village board puts brakes on trucking firm

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A business license application by a small trucking firm wanting to locate in Pontoon Beach was denied by the village board.

The license — for Loda Transportation Inc. — was one of four acted on by the Board at Tuesday's meeting.

In addition to the denied license, one was approved and two were tabled until the board could receive more information.

Dave A. Hoff of Edwardsville and Jeff Bahr of Longview, Colo., had applied for a business permit to open their business at 4206 Crescent Industrial Drive. According to the business license application, the company would have operated up to six trucks at the location.

Trustee Lou Whitsell was the most vocal opponent of granting the license.

"I would hate to see a trucking company on Illinois 111 near Pontoon Road," he said.

He added that the village "needs to discourage" trucking companies from locating in town and that he "didn't want to be like Mitchell."

Whitsell also suggested considering a wheel tax.

The board approved a business license for Darryl E. Wilcox of Y's Choice LLC for a convenience store at 3802 Illinois 111.

Two business licenses were tabled.

Alexis Montanez of 35 Teal Street had requested a business license for a home business as an advertising

Request hits setback; many oppose variance

By Scott Cousins

A request for a setback variance by a resident before the Zoning Board by the Pontoon Beach Village Board.

Patrick Breece had requested a variance to allow a 3-foot setback instead of the required 12 for a garage building at 3809 Pontoon Road.

However, neighbor Susie Yokley had opposed the request, and because one member was on vacation, the Zoning Board voted 3-2 on the matter. That member later declined to vote, creating a conflict of interest.

PONTOON BEACH

The Village Board — with Trustees Bob Vincent and Bob Abel absent — approved sending the matter back to the Zoning Board with instructions to give them a definite recommendation on the matter.

Breece spoke at Tuesday's meeting, saying he was willing to compromise, that a 12-foot setback would make it impossible to use the building.

Trustee Lou Whitsell said he opposed granting the variance.

"Will the neighbors allow a change in the plan?" that's what zoning is all about," he said.

Later in the meeting, several people spoke against granting the variance.

In other business, Mayor Glen Wilson said he and members of the Finance Committee have met with developers of a proposed project at Illinois 111 and Chain of Rocks Road to discuss possible economic incentives.

Wilson said nothing was finalized.

CAROL'S COMMENTS

Coach ready for female golfers

There was a time when female sports, amateur or professional, got only a perfunctory nod from schools and the general public. Through the Illinois Girls' Athletic Association (IGA), Larry Bennett's mother and I remember it well. Tennis was acceptable, though considered somewhat exotic, and if we wanted to play golf ball around a bit, that was OK.

Those days are long gone and no one could be more pleased than Dennis O'Neil, a resident, assistant director of Campus Recreation at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and, as of April 1, head coach of the university's first women's golf team.

Carol Clarkin

NCAA rules specify six matches to qualify but allows a split season (fall and spring), and Larry expects his team to play four to five times in the fall and three to four in the spring (including conference championship).

"I'm cautiously optimistic that by the time the freshmen are seniors, we'll be in a position to challenge for conference championships."

Larry Bennett
SIUE coach

Bennett applied for the post as soon as it was announced back in February that the team was to be formed. His compliance with the Federal Title IX mandate that equal opportunity be provided for women in collegiate sports. He was one of only 11 in April passed the NCAA requirements, and began recruiting players immediately.

"First I talked to girls who were college students at SIUE who had high school golf experience; both Edwardsville and Belleville have had well-established teams for several years," Larry told me. "Then, thanks to some news publicity, a number of high school girls contacted the university and the results were great. It took only about four weeks for the girls I wanted on the team to sign national letters of intent that they would attend SIUE for golf scholarships, all of which means that part or all of their tuition will be paid."

Presently there are five paid scholarship students and none of the girls have attended SIUE at least. He fully expects to sign two or three students who are presently enrolled at SIUE.

According to NCAA guidelines, Bennett said, he must play 5 to 6 golfers at each event, scoring the low four.

"We're ready to go under the guidance and could carry as many as 12 on a team, but our first year budget won't allow for that many. This is a building process."

Plans call to start the first day of school, Aug. 24, and the team's first competition will be within ten days.

Federal loans yielding few results

Help! No, I don't need help. Well, at least I don't think I do, but that might depend on who you ask. Oh well, on with the story.

We have all determined by now that it is not a good year in agriculture, and there is a great deal of anxiety across the South and Midwest.

The problem is: What can be done to help?

Is there anything that will help get us out of this time, drought, the floods and heat?

The Clinton Administration announced last week that it was going to buy wheat in an effort to support the market for wheat farms.

Did it work? Well, the theory

David Schumacher

was good, but the leaders on the Chicago Board Of Trade didn't see it that way. The President had hoped.

Instead, the market took a wait-and-see attitude because members have seen these kinds of programs before. Besides that, the amount of wheat being bought — and given to less fortunate countries — was a very small purchase in comparison to the supply on hand.

Later in the week, the president, once again, after failing to help the troubled farmers with getting directly involved with markets, issued a statement urging Congress to approve a proposal for supplemental income payments for farmers who had had losses in three of the last five years.

According to the statement, this avoids market intervention while helping about 45,000 farmers to 50,000 farmers.

I try to stay out of politics by not taking one side or the other, but the thing that I can't, or should say, I can't understand is how loaning more money is the answer. I think we have to take a long, hard look at the problems of export and trade. Once we develop a solid base and hopefully, the market and production will seek level that will benefit agriculture.

If you think you have a solution, I would love to hear from you. Drop me a line on the e-mail.

READER'S POLL RESULTS

Do you believe that you get your money's worth from the tax-funded services you receive at the federal, state and local levels?

I have called the Illinois State Highway Department three different times since

May 1 reporting a ditch should dredged in front of my house. Nothing done as of July 13. I have asked Metro East Sanitary District to grade a ditch in back of my house for 20 years. Low spots hold water and help mosquitoes breed.

Do you think Mark McGwire will break the home run record this season?

"I think he is one of the greatest ball players of all time and a very nice person. They work against child abuse. I think he will break the record at the end of September if the pitchers stop walking him."

Bertha Rankin, 56

"No. He has hit so many so far, I think his luck will run out."

Devin Jones, 15

"I think he will break the record if his class and legs stay healthy. He doesn't have to break any records to prove that he is the greatest ball player and person."

Andrew Hall, 14

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Woman wrong about flag

TO THE EDITOR: In Thursday's Press-Record, a reader's poll response from Chloe Simpson said that burning the American flag should be a crime.

When she witnessed the American flag being improperly displayed, I wonder what, if anything, she does to correct it.

Numerous times in the past whenever I saw the flag improperly displayed, I called the owner of the flag and brought it to his or her attention. Most of the time, I would write the individual and enclose a copy of "The Flag Code" and tell them what was wrong.

Many times that individual would call me or write me, thanking me for my awareness.

Maybe Simpson should do something likewise.

P.S. I still think it's a crime to burn it.

Transportation worth the price

TO THE EDITOR: To all you seniors and disabled who think you can't do without a car to drive my car up a long time ago.

Here in Granite City, we have free Township Bus. Schedule your rides, and you can go to the store one day, the doctor another day, etc.

The drivers are courteous, help you get on and off the bus and even help you get your parcels to the door.

The ACT takes you to St. Louis or to a doctor or Jefferson Barracks. If you are in a wheelchair, they will help get you and your wheelchair on the van.

The price of the ACT has been $1 each way for in town, but the fare is going up in August. Even if the price goes up to $1.50, it is much cheaper than paying car insurance and trying to maintain a car.

Thanks for the courtesy of the drivers on both the ACT and the Township buses. I ride as often as I can.

ERNESTINE HAHN

Ode to board

TO THE EDITOR: Oh, save me a home where the old folks can roam and others who need to can sit in a chair where seldom is heard a discouraging word and workers can earn decent pay.

Home, Home up on Main. You have been there so many years.

We don't know how come the board turned so dumb and ignores all of our tears.

Patrol picks up near subsidized housing

Grant provides money for officer, vehicle

GRANITE CITY

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Public housing units and areas surrounding them will soon see extra police service. The Granite City Police Department is joining the Illinois Housing Authority to secure a federal Safe Neighborhoods grant that would help provide additional police in federally subsidized housing areas.

The grant is for two years. The patrol should be in by October.

"It's truly a sweetheart deal on the part of the city and the citizens. What we'll be able to glean from this is one additional police officer, which is totally without any cost to the department or the city at all," said Maj. Kip Pomeroy.

Additionally, the grant allows for 177 hours of overtime for the patrol, plus a police vehicle, again without cost to the city, he said.

The areas to receive the patrol are Kilkpatrick Homes, Anchorage Homes and federally subsidized housing near Worthen Park.

Maj. Kip Pomeroy

"By virtue of the very name of this grant, Safe Neighborhoods policing will not only be done exclusively in the housing areas but also the neighborhoods surrounding them for containment of any kind of spillover or any kinds of problems or criminal activity from feeding off the subsidized housing," Pomeroy said.

After the two years for the grant is up, the city has the option to absorb the costs of the patrol or try to renew the grant.

Shelters offer break from heat

Temporary cooling shelters are now available to residents in case of power losses.

Concern over possible power blackouts has been raised by Mayor Ron Selpf, Township Supervisor Bob Shipley and Parks Director Dave Polivick to provide the temporary cooling shelters suggested by the town.

Elderly or ill residents in need of air conditioning during a possible blackout can seek cool shelter at three locations:

Elmwood Retirement Center at Pontoon and Franklin; the Nelson Hagnauer Township Hall, 2060 Delmar and Fire Station No. 29 on Madison.

Shelters have been arranged for paramedics to evaluate the conditions of anyone using these shelters. Fire Station 1 and the Township Hall will not lose power during a blackout because they are controlled by the same electrical grid as St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Physicals slated

Physicals for Margarita Catholic High School students will be given Aug. 8. in the school cafeteria. Physicals are scheduled at 7:30 a.m. for boys and 9 a.m. for girls. The fee is $10 dollars for an exam.

Football equipment will be issued the same day in the gymnasium. The schedule is seniors at 8 a.m., juniors at 8:15 a.m., sophomores at 8:45 a.m. and freshmen at 9 a.m. Information also will be given on the start of practice, Aug. 15. For more information, call 463-0580.

Two independent sets of public hearings on preventing school violence are being held throughout Illinois this summer, both with the goal of getting the subject addressed in state legislature.

One circuit of hearings is being sponsored by the Illinois House Education Safety Task Force, with Rep. Jay Hoffman, D-Collinsville, as its chairman.

Rep. Steve Davis, D-Bethalto, is chair of the task force. The group held four public hearings this summer, one in Collinsville June 8. The hearings will wind up in December.

The second six public hearings are being conducted separately by Illinois Attorney General Jim Ryan. The first hearing was held in Champaign; the second was held Tuesday in Belleville. Other hearings are scheduled in Peoria, Grayslake, the Quad Cities and Carbondale.

Members of the bipartisan task force are state school Superintendent Joseph Spagnolo, Chicago Public Schools chief executive officer, and Illinois Cook County State's Attorney Richard A. Devine and Gene Marin, acting director of Illinois State Police.

Hoffman's task force is taking the opposite approach than Hoffman's group but aiming toward the same goal.

The group is meeting six weeks ago, unveiled a 14-point plan July 9 to make schools safer. Members will be presenting the proposals during hearings around Illinois spanning about two weeks soliciting input from school and law enforcement authorities and the public.

Among speakers at the hearing in Belleville was Bennett Pickman, then chief of police, and Director of Police, Jan Bellm, assistant principal at Edwardsville High, and superintendents and principals in Belleville and East St. Louis.

The group will make adjustments to the proposals before presenting them to legislators who might sponsor related bills.

"We are seeking public input. We will try to enact as much as possible — (first) fix what doesn't work and then move on to the next problem," Hoffman said.

Hoffman said he plans to work with representatives of both parties in composing legislation he can propose to the House of Representatives.

"We will take the information we have gathered along with recommendations from the attorney general — then draft legislation, hopefully in the fall veto session or next spring," Hoffman said.

"We welcome the input of anybody from any party to foster a proposal. We have no pride of authorship" of bills, Hoffman said.

Most of Ryan's group's recommendations are designed to be put in place before or during the 1988-89 school year, said representative John Doe, of the attorney general's office. Hopes are to have the recommendations approved by the General Assembly in the fall veto session.

"I think of a more important issue in Illinois than making sure our school yards and classrooms are as safe as possible," Ryan said.

Editor's note: News In Review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is intended for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record-Journals.

Letter spurs annexation rush

GRANITE CITY — While the debates rage over Mitchell's incorporation, some residents in unincorporated parts of the contested area were unaware that they were caught up in the fight.

Several residents in a neighborhood just off Maryville Road, north of Pontoon Road, did not know they were included in incorporation designs until Granite City officials told them so. Last week, Granite City Mayor Tom Schaefer asked filer to inform the unincorporated residents telling them they had another option besides becoming part of Mitchell, namely, annexing into Granite City. However, the time frame for such an action is short.

Residents only have until Friday, the deadline to petition Granite City for annexation, because once Mitchell petitions the court, no annexation petitions from inside the incorporation can be accepted until the Mitchell incorporation vote is decided.

Dan Brown, Granite City's economic development director, said that after the filer was circulated mainly in the Maryville Road area, his office has been "overwhelmed" with calls from residents unaware of what was going to happen. He's had calls from angry people who didn't know they were involved.

Some of the requests for annexation even have come from property owners on Illinois 3 near the Union Electric property that may become part of Granite City.

Money for bridge a possibility

VENICE — Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols said he is considering a plan to borrow up to $15 million to pay off the outstanding bond debt on the McKinley Bridge and make improvements. That money would be in addition to about $11 million in state and federal funds earmarked for repairs over the next five years.

"What we're looking at is attempting to refinance the outstanding bonds, but in the process, an ideal situation would be to get enough to do some further work on the bridge," Echols said after Tuesday's city council meeting.

By refinancing and combining with state and federal funds, Echols said they could do about $20 million worth of renovations.

Approximately $4.3 million in outstanding bonds will come due on Oct. 1. Bridge officials have said that because of increased spending on repairs, there is no way they can make that payment, and the bonds will be in default for at least six years.

Council OKs $3 million purse

VENICE — A $3 million appropriation ordinance was approved by the Venice City Council.

The regular council meeting was held at the Venice Recreation Center because the city hall council chambers air conditioning does not work.

The appropriations ordinance — which sets the legal limit the city can spend for the fiscal year from May 1, 1998, to April 30, 1999 — is not much different from last year's appropriations, said Mayor Tom Echols.

Appropriations ordinances are set higher than intended expenditures to take care of unexpected emergencies or take advantage of unexpected windfalls.

GRANITE CITY — A local contractor has started construction on a 23-unit efficiency apartment complex in Granite City. Julian B. Wallace, owner of Wallace Construction, 2110 Delmar, said he wants to build the "motel-kitchenette" units at 21st and Benton streets on ground purchased from Mount Zion Church. Wallace researched the viability of the project for several months.

The units will be comprised of up to eight units in three separate buildings. Each will be equipped with a kitchenette, one bedroom and a bathroom. The project is expected to cost $200,000, he said.

The units will be multi-functional and will be rented as sleeping rooms, apartments or hotel rooms, he said. Several charitable agencies in the area have contacted Wallace and expressed interest in his project because the agencies could put up families in the apartments in time of need.

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County Treasurer Wes Tucker called Wednesday for an independent audit of three financial statements of the county's three largest sheltered care homes.

However, County Board Chairman Rudy Papa said he won't allow the issue to come before the board, and County Auditor Fred Bathon, Tucker's opponent in the November elections, belittled the initiative as a "political ploy."

In a press conference, Tucker said he wrote to Papa asking that the board vote to hire an independent auditor to see whether there is enough money to keep the homes open. He cited the disparity between the financial audits of Bathon and those of Curt Reckmann, an accountant from Edwardsville.

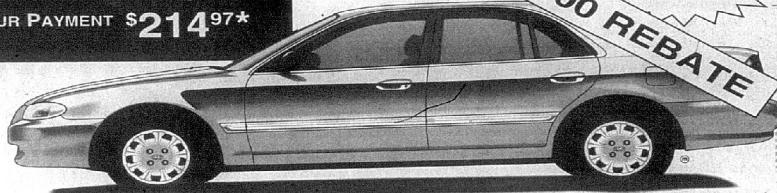

The board voted in April to close the homes Aug. 13 or 14. Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board is scheduled to vote on whether to issue permits to close the homes Aug. 13 or 14.

Festival

and peddlers hawked their wares.
It's another day in the Middle Ages.

Whether more educational or entertaining, the Renaissance Festival is coming back for a second weekend at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The festival, modeled after a 16th century tournament, drew about 10,000 people over the weekend despite rain Sunday. It is being put on as a fund-raiser for the Trails West Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Mike Barker of the Warriors of Legend Faire, a troupe specializing in combat demonstrations, said they try to sneak in as much education as possible.

In addition to watching the entertainment, the fair gives people a chance to talk to the performers, many of whom stay in character throughout the festival.

"You try to go with a little theatrics, a few different bits of grievances, a little bit of comedy, ones in which you're Barkerist said. "With a lot of it of practice, we tell people that we are professionals; we put a lot of time into it. Nicks and dings do occur, but it's actually no worse than skiing or something like that."

He also said their weapons had no sharp edges.

"That's actually historically accurate," he added. "They were only sharp on the last three inches. Most knights were actually bludgeoned to death."

Many of the actors started as street performers.

Cardinal Richy Lew of Emperor Dark's Karnival Macabre and Sinister Circus, a St. Louis based troupe, has been with them for less than a year. "I see into their inner light and try to find some inner peace with them," he said of those he judges.

Usually that judgment involves punishment.

He is also known as Mr. Thorax because of a special talent for bug eating.

"Which I'll be omitting from this experience," he said.

Another member of the Karnival, Brendon Madia, a Scottish sword dancer, said he includes standard combat techniques "with a little added spice."

"I've been sword dancing for years on my own, I just kind of picked it up," he said. "It's not that sharp, but it will cut through bone."

While most of the actors started as street performers, others became involved because of their love of things medieval.

"I attended a fair in 1983," said King Valerian of Orecane, who declined to give his real, or "mundane" name. "Having a degree in ancient medieval history as well as medieval literature, it was kind of a natural."

He said he "educates by example," and his costume and weapon (a rapier, a Renaissance-era type of sword) are historically accurate.

"Actually it's a functional thing," he said of his sword. "My character is a no-nonsense sort of king."

Lady Persephone, a lady in waiting, has been a member of the king's troupe for 12 years.

"I was a merchant for a while," she said. "I became a lady in waiting the year. It's overwhelming to step up."

The festival will continue this weekend from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. The cost to attend is $5 for children 5-16 and SIUE students, $7.50 for adults and $3.50 for scouts in uniform. Children under 5 are free.

For information or advanced ticket sales, call Aries Entertainment Group at (217) 272-4424 or the Trails West Council at 259-2145.

and he would be meeting Aug. 4 with local and county officials to discuss extending the county's enterprise zone to the area.

The restaurant, Rural Route Country Cooking, is similar to a Cracker Barrel Restaurant and has other locations in Missouri and St. Charles, Mo.

The building will be approximately 8,000 square feet and occupy about 5 1/2 acres, said Mayor Glen Wilson.

Initially, it would employ about 160 people. That number would be reduced to approximately 130 over a period of time.

The restaurant would be the first development in the proposed Regional Commerce Park development.

The board recently approved a preliminary plat for the business park.

The development would be located near the vehicle emission testing station on Chain of Rocks Road, which is being proposed by St. Louis developer Joseph Reding.

JJK's legacy includes 'gracious' behavior

Bob Kersee and Jackie Joyner-Kersee greet fans last Saturday at SIU-Edwardsville during the G.S. Open track meet.

BRUCE DAYE / For the Herald

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

If Muhammad Ali is the most recognizable male athlete worldwide, could a case be made that Jackie Joyner-Kersee is the most recognizable female athlete in the world?

"The sport is losing a great person," said Robert Forster, a member of the JJK training team for 15 years. "I can think of anyone else except Muhammad Ali who transcends the sport. I really can't. She transcends her sport. She is known around the world. I'm sure there are kids in Africa who know Jackie Joyner-Kersee. In Asia, they know Jackie Joyner-Kersee. There are people who don't even know what she does but they know her."

"Her reputation is so great that it is scary," Forster said.

Forster's opinion may be somewhat biased since he works as JJK's physical therapist. However, former U.S. high jumper and current NBC broadcast commentator Michael Johnson has a parallel in comparison: Ali and JJK.

"That is a tough parallel. The one thing about Jackie is controversy never followed her, dogged her or was never brought up," Forster said. "When Muhammad had purposefully manufactured controversy, that was his hook. I took my inspiration from him in the area of creating controversy — creating a reason for people to care about you and feel passion about you're doing."

"I think that Jackie doesn't have phenomenal passion. She does. She chose a different road all together. She chose to be gracious. She chose to be a cheerleader for other athletes in her own right. She chose to have a smile on her face all the time. She chose to rise above all of that. I think she felt it is easier for me to focus on what I'm doing if I'm not focusing on a bunch of controversy. I think it is just not what she is about. I think she sets a tremendous standard for athletes that follow her on how to behave. I don't think she is a standard to many are going to be able to reach."

If the great Ali could float like a butterfly and sting like a bee, the great JJK had the grace of an eagle and heart of a lion.

And even though she did not win the long jump at her own farewell meet on July 25 at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville, she showed her heart.

Paddlers divers earn top spot in SWISA meet

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Despite being short-handed in two age groups, Paddlers Swim Club won first place in the Southeastern Illinois Swimming Association's team diving championship last Saturday at the Paddlers Pool.

Summer Sport of Alton came in second, Collinsville's Gaslight third, and Montclair of Edwardsville finished fourth.

"I was really pleased," Paddlers diving coach Gayle McCormick said, "because we didn't have anyone in the 10-and-under and 13-and-under. I told the kids that this was going to be really tough without anyone in those divisions, but we pulled it out."

There were a lot of surprises. I had an 8-year-old boy diving in the 9-10 group. Some kids that I didn't expect to finish high dove really well."

Among the Paddlers' first-place finishers for the boys were Sean Lehney (8-and-under), Matt Dittman (10-and-under) and Michael Vivod (13-14). Ronnie Weaver (8-and-under), Matt Dittman (13-14) and Tony Johnson (15-18) were second-place finishers for the Paddlers.

"Sean's win was a real pleasant surprise," says McCormick. "We didn't expect him to do that well."

In the girls competition, Paddlers divers Jill Ravelotti (8-and-under), Michaela St. Louis (10-and-under) finished first in their divisions; Jessie Weimer (9-and-under) and Allie Krinski (15-18) each finished second; and Sarah Harzel (10-and-under) and Laura Canada (15-18) placed third. The Paddlers also got strong contributions from Ashley and Allison Strode.

"There was just a great level of concentration, kids knowing what they had to do to pull it out."

Also involved in the competition were Wedgewood from St. Louis (fifth), and Sunset Hills from Edwardsville (sixth).

The SWISA swim finals are set for this weekend in Godfrey.

Granite City resident Tristan Choat, 13, has racked up a wall of plaques. He added another honor recently by being named St. Louis Junior Bowler of the Year.

Choat named St. Louis Junior Bowler of the Year

By Scott Marion
and Rick Broome
Staff writer

Tristan Choat is back into bowling — in a big way.

Choat, a 13-year-old Granite City resident who attended Granite City High School last year, was named St. Louis Junior Bowler of the Year in the classic division (170-and-under average) of the Midwest Junior Classics bowling league.

Choat had a considerable lead of 15 points in the major division point standings going into the final MJC tournament of the season at Olivette (Mo.) Lanes, where he finished as an alternate (ninth place).

Choat also finished third in the Granite City Games.

"I did better than I expected this year," he said. "I raised my average almost 50 points, from 150 to around 200."

"I've been in bowling a long time, so it was natural that he just tagged along. He wasn't even 2 when we had him at the foul line and he just kind of took off."

Randy Choat
Tristan's father

"I've been in bowling a long time, so it was natural that he just tagged along," said Tristan's father, Randy Choat, an accomplished bowler in his own right. "He wasn't even 2 when we had him at the foul line and he just kind of took off."

Choat is at the foul line again.

Choat was shooting 70 or 80. But when he was about 5, I took him out of it. I wanted him to do things like soccer and basketball. It's a good sport, but bowling is his love. He's good at basketball and he's won a number of free-throw shooting contests.

"I bet he didn't bowl 50 games over seven years, but last year he turned 12 and said he was ready (to return to bowling). I told him it would take last summer for me to show him yet, and he was shooting 70 or 80.

But when he was about 5, I took him out of it. I wanted him to do things like soccer and basketball. It's a good sport, but bowling is his love. He's good at basketball and he's won a number of free-throw shooting contests.

Mendoza helped soccer get its start in Metro East

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Ruben Mendoza is largely responsible for the popularity soccer enjoys in the Metro East today. He began it, nurtured it to maturity and continues to watch over from afar.

Mendoza was born June 2, 1931, in St. Louis. His family moved to Granite City a year later.

"My dad got a job at American Smelting and refined there for 20 years," Mendoza said. "We had relatives and friends in the area. The best thing we ever did was move here."

He moved with his mom to Durango, Mexico, when he was 8, and he picked up soccer two years later.

"It didn't take long before I fell in love with the sport," Mendoza said.

He kept playing in Mexico until he moved back to Granite City at the age of 16. A year later he began playing in the Major Soccer League for the McMahon Pontiac team at the old Sportsman's Park.

He changed name of the team and moved to different parks in St. Louis every couple of years.

"After the first year, we were called Zenithoerfer's, then Ralston's for a while. We played at Northgate Mall Park on Grand, and then Public Stadium on Kingshighway."

Mendoza spent 1951 in tryouts for the U.S. Olympic soccer team and made the team that played for a chance at the '52 Olympic Games in Helsinki, Finland.

"It was my first chance to travel abroad," says Mendoza. "We played tune-up matches in England, Scotland and Ireland."

He made the U.S. Olympic team again for the last year.

"For the Melbourne Olympics in '56, we got to travel to about a dozen countries in Asia. That was quite an experience. We didn't get paid, but the trip was great."

Mendoza made another Olympic team in 1960, and the national World Cup teams in '54 and '58. The 1960 Olympic team lost to Mexico in regional qualifying.

In those days, only one team could make it from our region and Mexico was way ahead of the U.S.

"Mexico was like my second home country, my second favorite. But I would have liked winning gold."

In 1960, Mendoza was told by several doctors that he had to have an operation on his ailing knee.

Mendoza thinks Metro East soccer is in fine shape.

Pretty soon, the local league was up to 9 teams, and a rich tradition was born.

"Some of those guys became really good coaches, like Don Goldschmidt and Gerhardt Maas," Mendoza said.

Mendoza thinks that he had to stop playing on it," he says. "I would get it into shape every time if felt like it was getting weaker. I finally blew it out, and had to stop playing."

Mendoza could have just sat around and moaned, cursing the cruel fate that had taken away the game he loved.

Instead, he went out in Lincoln Park and started teaching kids to play soccer.

"People didn't think I could start anything up here, because I was the only one who knew about soccer," Mendoza said.

In 1961, he got an office at the YMCA and people started to take notice.

"Soccer has gotten bigger and better in the last six years. I'm glad to see some of these teams doing better, like Edwardsville, O'Fallon, Belleville, and I'm sure that Granite City will bounce back up there. I'm glad to see soccer expanding."

Ruben Mendoza

"Kids were already at the Y, playing different sports," said Mendoza. "I would ask them, 'Would you like to play soccer?' They couldn't understand. I told them, 'You kick it with your foot, and sometimes hit it with your forehead.' 'What?'" they said. But by word-of-mouth, the message got out that soccer was fun, and kids started playing in the streets.

"We went all over, trying to get fields, teaching parents to coach. They were great about it. They'd cut grass or set up goal posts. The kids just loved to play."

Mendoza said that St. Elizabeth Church played a crucial part in supporting soccer in its infancy.

"They were a big help," he said. "There were a lot of good people there, and you could always count on them."

Willy Seim, a German immigrant and assistant to Mendoza, moved to Collinsville and Willy got fields set up. That's when the rivalry that still exists started between the two teams.

"They were only the two of us back then. Granite City vs. Collinsville," says Mendoza.

"I used to go over there to help Willy get fields set up. That's when the rivalry that still exists started between the two teams.

"I'm glad to see soccer expanding."

I couldn't expand without first existing," Ruben Mendoza is the Big Bang of the Metro East soccer universe.

what to do, but the rest would be up to him in practice. "Most of the time he has one Sunday tournament per month from September through July. Tristan also competes in a traveling league on another Sunday each month."

"When they're that young, getting kids to think instead of just throw is not easy to do, but he's coachable," Randy Choat said. "In the first couple tournaments, I just let him make mistakes and he would ask 'Why am I doing this?' He listened to you, though."

"He's been amazing so far."

"He bowled 12 games the other day, but he'll go back and play a little pool with his buddies. He doesn't typical 13-year old stuff. I tell him he's got to have fun."

"I was St. Louis Bowler of the Year in 1989 and 1990 and I have a 22-year-old son (Brian) who is a good bowler. His own right with a 200 average. But, Tristan could surpass us all."

Randy Choat has 37 sanctified tournaments. Brian also had a 279 in a recent tournament with Randy.

Tristan's career high is 279.

"He's been improved before in storms on the sunburst, so now I guess I can be the supportive mother," said Tristan's mother, Lori Choat.

"When he was 10, his dad started teaching him the lanes for bumper bowl. Randy's dad (Marlin Choat) is a bowler, too."

"Tristan bowls mostly at Bowland, but he's also in a league at Airport Bowl. He had a 728 series this year at Bowland. In tournaments, he has one first-place finish, two second places and two fourth places. He has numerous top-10 finishes and his average is 190-plus."

"He just keeps getting better and better, and I don't know where (scoring) in the 190s we're not satisfying him anymore."

Considering the bowling success of other family members, it's hardly surprising that Tristan left home to leave to play last year.

"I've been playing baseball for eight years, but I quit because bowling got in the way," he said. "I played for Grigsby's basketball team. I thought bowling was kind of challenging and I wanted to see if I could learn the game."

"I've done well. Last year has surprised me a little. I didn't think I would be doing this good."

Tristan may have a natural talent for bowling, but dedication and confidence are the most important factors in his success.

"I get a lot of practice. He said, 'I can bowl for miles at Bethalto (Airport Bowl) and I can bowl for 79 cents at Bowland. I bowled about 15 games (last Thursday) and seven the day before. I usually bowl 30 to 40 games per week.'

"My dad helps me a lot," he said. "I can bowl for miles at Bethalto (Airport Bowl) and I can bowl for 79 cents at Bowland. I bowled about 15 games (last Thursday) and seven the day before. I usually bowl 30 to 40 games per week."

"My best tournament was when I won at Cottonwood (Bowling in Edwardsville) Dec. 20. My low game in my first live was 200 and my high game was 267."

Tristan is already thinking about his bowling future.

"I'm going to raise my average and work on my release," he said. "I'm trying to get a (college) scholarship. We might be moving to another state, so I won't be able to bowl for Granite City (High School). They're getting a team next year."

Tristan will begin defense of his title in the first tournament of next season, at Sunset Lanes in August.

NEWS

AROUND THE AREA

Here's what happened around the Metro East in the past week:

East St. Louis*State OKs tax credits for housing development

For the first time, the state has approved tax credits for a new housing development in East St. Louis.

The Illinois Housing Development Authority approved about $9 million worth of credits for the Parsons Place development, the third largest single neighborhood project.

The project includes the development of 150-200 one-, two- and three-bedroom apartments for mixed-income families.

Work on the $23 million project is expected to begin in August. When schools were demolished on the site may be demolished this fall, McCormack Baron & Associates Vice President Barbara Freeland said.

A later phase calls for 50 single-family homes built by Community Development Consultants Inc. of East St. Louis, a member of the project's steering committee, and the Parsons Development Corp., McCormack Baron of St. Louis and the Regional Housing and Community Development Alliance of St. Louis.

Belleville*Novena starts at the Shrine

Tuesday was the first night of Our Lady of the Snows annual healing novena.

"The novena, which the day of prayer has been part of the Shrine ever since 1968. About 1,000 people are expected to attend over the nine-day period," said Jo Kathrine, Shrine public relations director.

Prayer sessions will begin each night at 7:30, except Saturday, when the Millennium Spire will be dedicated.

Sunday's Novena will start immediately following the dedication.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the novena will be held outside at the Shrine's amphitheater. The other six novenas will be held inside the auditorium of the Snows Church, located about 100 feet from the Shrine's entrance off Highway 10 on the center road.

Each session will last about one hour.

Fairview Heights*King leaving police force

The Fairview Heights Police Department has lost one of its original seven police officers.

"Mike King, 51, is leaving after 27 years with the force. He will become the chief of the Highland Police Department on July 1," said King.

King said the Highland Police Department is well-respected and he is looking forward to starting his new job. He said when the Highland position came open it was an opportunity to step up to the chief's spot.

"Police Director Randy Williams was in duty three-and-a-half months after King said he had spent most of his career working with him, and said the Fairview Heights Police Academy was King's brainchild.

O'Fallon*Home rule is placed on ballot

Despite concerns raised by two O'Fallon aldermen, voters on Nov. 3 will decide if the city becomes a home rule unit. The council voted 8-2 Monday to place the issue on the ballot. Mike Bennett and Dennis Renner, who represent Ward 5, voted no.

"I'm totally against home rule," Renner said Thursday. "This issue is moving so fast. (With the council agreeing to put it on the ballot, it appears that we are) in favor of home rule."

Bennett said the dangers of home rule have not even been discussed, yet. The city might want to have the Illinois Municipal League present a program about home rule, he said.

O'Fallon resident Dick Glogowski recently told the council it should initiate a referendum to become a home rule city. He noted the city should consider home rule because it needs 90 miles of roads improved, which could cost $90 million to complete.

"If we wait until 1999, O'Fallon automatically becomes a home rule unit. Any other city may adopt home rule at a referendum, which can be initiated by the City Council or petition by 10 percent of registered voters.

Columbia*Fire department marks 100 years

The Columbia Volunteer Fire Department is observing its 100th anniversary this year and the department will feature a 1902 fire truck in its annual Daze Parade on Aug. 22.

The department donated the Studebaker to the St. Louis County Museum of Transport in 1985, but now has it back on a three-year loan.

"We decided we try to get it back and restore it and have it for the next three years," said Donald Sutter, anniversary chairman. "It's partly for the anniversary, but, regardless, we'll try to get it restored."

They want to try to drive it in parades, but Sutter said, they will also use it as a float or a truck bed for the Columbia Daze parade. The department will also have a 1949 Mack open fire truck in the parade.

Sutter said it may be awhile before the Studebaker is ready to roll on its own.

Collinsville*Schools draft uniform policies

Public school districts across the country are adopting uniform policies, and two Unit 10 schools are following the trend.

Renfro and Kreitner schools surveyed parents and discovered that a majority was interested in a uniform policy. Each school now is formulating a voluntary pilot program to phase in the year.

Keep the both uniforms and widely available, uniforms at both schools are being designed using basic colors available at several local stores, rather than only from a uniform company.

At Kreitner School, colors still are being discussed, but Principal Dick Lickliter said a sample uniform should be ready for viewing at the school's kindergarten orientation and open house in late August.

Below: Christopher Roberts of Granite City tries on chain mail while Leslie Toliver and Nathan Toliver, both of Maryville, watch. Right, a re-creation by the local chapters of the Society for Creative Anachronism of a noble's tent. Far right, two members of the Warriors of Legend Falls engage in combat.

Olde Fashioned Fun

Clockwise, from above, Members of the Illinois and Missouri chapters of the Society for Creative Anachronism — the Barony of Shattered Crystal and Barony of Three Rivers, respectively — perform a Scottish Dance at the Renaissance Festival at SIUE last weekend; Connal, a musician from the Barony of Three Rivers, plays a recorder; Wearing "fantasy" costumes — which lack historical accuracy — Jessica Goodwin, left, her mother, Marilyn Handley, and sister Heather Ramsey, all of Casey, stroll past the festival marketplace; A dragon incense burner was one of many crafts and weapons for sale at the festival; King Valerian knights Aaron Frick, 8, of St. Louis. The festival continues this weekend.

ENTERTAINMENT

Summerfest slated to start Friday

Edwardsville Jaycees sponsor annual event

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

Edwardsville Jaycees are keeping their eyes on the skies this week, hoping to avoid a repeat of Summerfest 1997.

"I saw the forecast for Friday and it wasn't looking too promising," Jaycees President Diane Kamp said.

A lightning storm and a car crash played havoc with last year's Summerfest, and Jaycees are hoping to avoid that kind of action during the 31st annual event Friday and Saturday in City Park.

Food, drinks, rides and entertainment will be offered from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday and noon to 1 a.m. Saturday.

This year Summerfest will get a boost from performers in 1998 World Boomerang Championships, behind held this week at Southern Illinois University this week.

Other entertainment highlights include:

Friday, 8 p.m. to midnight: Lataua Applegate, a deejay and karaoke presentation.

Saturday, 2 to 3 p.m.: country line dance exposition by a Staunton group.

Saturday, 5 to 7 p.m.: Little Miss Edwardsville Pageant.

Saturday, 8 p.m. to midnight: the pop music band "J. Christopher."

A band for all audiences

Stan Fornaszewski and his Big Band provide musical variety

By Larry Ingram
Correspondent

For more than 20 years, Stan Fornaszewski and his Big Band have been performing "America's Favorite Big Band Sounds of the Past and Present" to audiences of all ages.

A native of Granite City, Stan Fornaszewski can't remember a day when music wasn't a part of his life: his love for music began at age 2 when he picked up his first pair of drumsticks.

His dad, John Fornaszewski, who also sold drums out of his Granite City music store, gave him the lessons.

"My dad was my drum teacher," recalls Fornaszewski. "I started on the drums when I was 2 and had my first steady lessons when I was 5."

Stan Fornaszewski (pronounced for-na-shess-key) also started performing at a young age, and worked his first professional engagement at age 10.

"I started playing in public as a trio," he said. "We played weekend dances."

The other players were not quite as young as Fornaszewski, but were still not out of high school. Dave Hylla, 15, played electric cordovox. Mike Barnhart, 13, played sax. Fornaszewski, 10, would switch between violin and drums.

"Unlike most bands that label themselves as dance bands, concert bands, jazz bands, sweet bands, whatever, we don't limit ourselves to just one or two styles of music. Our instrumentation allows us to play over 50 years of America's favorite songs."

They called themselves the Purple Knights, and had colorful outfits to match.

"We wore Bobby Vinton-type shirts — purple shirts, white pants, white high-heeled dress shoes," Fornaszewski said. "They were nice shirts, actually."

The Purple Knights played at the Polish Hall, the Czech Hall, and any place that was hopping at the time.

"We were wanting to do more work and I was getting a lot of calls from other bands," he said. "And we wanted to join the union so we could get better work and play some bigger jobs.

That's when we split up because Dave Hylla didn't want to join the union."

Fornaszewski was also staying busy with other jobs in the area.

"I was doing about 95 to 100 jobs a year while I was in 7th, 8th and 9th grades and working five nights a week as a musician at Hu Ke Lau in Granite City (now the location of Pizza World)."

At 15, Fornaszewski auditioned for the drum chair in Harry James' Big Band in Los Angeles, but decided to remain in school; at age 16 he organized his own big band.

He began building a library of music, learning to arrange and write and orchestrate parts, as well as contract musicians. He started out with a full-sized, 17-piece big band. The majority of the musicians were high school buddies.

"About 1980 is when I went into booking for the band full time," he said. "I had just graduated high school and started freshman college."

Now beginning its 20th year, the Stan Fornaszewski Big Band has become one of the St. Louis area's busiest big bands, working year-round for various venues throughout Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Fornaszewski attributes his band's success to the variety of music it performs.

"Unlike most bands that label themselves as dance bands, concert bands, jazz bands, sweet bands, whatever, we don't limit ourselves to just one or two styles of music. Our instrumentation allows us to play over 50 years of America's favorite songs."

The band carries more than 600 arrangements (some 57 hours of continuous music) from the libraries of America's most popular big bands — including the traditional hits by Glenn Miller, Tommy Dorsey, Duke Ellington and Count Basie — to the contemporary big band sounds of today.

"No matter what the request, we always have something appropriate," Fornaszewski said.

In 1991, the Stan Fornaszewski Big Band released the St. Louis area's first Big Band compact disc and cassette. In 1994, it released its second album. Both CDs currently are airing on about 150 big band stations.

Fornaszewski said he usually stays out of the studio and is content to perform live.

"Our CDs came as a result of people that followed this band asking for a CD recording for so many years," he said.

Currently, the band is in its 18th year performing at the Wilson Park concert series in Granite City.

"The band has a good following. Our Glenn Miller concert will be coming up at the end of August."

The next Wilson Park Concert for the Stan Fornaszewski Big Band is next Thursday.

Late models hit the dirt at Tri-City

Kenny Schrader among those competing in Hicks Oils/ Quaker State Classic 50

The late models will make their only appearance at Tri-City Speedway on Wednesday when the Nascar/Busch All-Star Series competes in the eighth annual Hicks Oils/Quaker State Classic 50.

The Midwest's best dirt late-model drivers will get a chance to compete against the nation's most popular Winston Cup diver and St. Louis favorite son, Ken Schrader.

Kenny is coming back to where it all began in an attempt to win his third Busch All-Star series race on Tri-City's fast half-mile.

Starting in 1975, Schrader could be found racing his model, sprint or model at the the Granite City Oval every Saturday night. Schrader's turned the trick twice against the All-Star Series Pros, with victories in 1990 and 1991.

He'll face stiff competition from past winners Steve Kosiski (1997, 1995), Joe Kosiski (1994, 1993), and Steve Boley (1996).

Also taking their shot at Schrader and the $3,000 winner's share of the $22,000 purse are Gary Webb, Ray Guss Jr., Jay Johnson and Ed Kosiski, winner of Nascar's Prestigious "Gatorade Front Runner Award." Also entered is local favorite Ed Dixon.

"Those dirty late models are fun and being able to win in the Busch All-Star series is a pretty neat deal," Schrader said. "Besides, I've hit just about every inch of that guardrail and I'm looking forward to the opportunity to do it again."

The championship bout between Terry McClinton and Ray Ryan will go another round as the Budweiser Pro Stocks also take to the half-mile. Spectator gates open at 6 p.m. with time trials at 7 p.m. and racing at 8 p.m.

Reserved seats are $20 and available by calling (314) 469-9666. General Admission tickets are $18 with students (15 and under) $5. There is always plenty of free parking.

Tri-City Speedway is located one half mile south of Interstate 270 on Illinois 203 south (exit 4).

'Saving Private Ryan' is too much

More than 20 years after terrorizing teenagers with "Jaws," Steven Spielberg bloodies the waters for adults with "Saving Private Ryan," a World War II epic of savage, near-surreal reality.

near-surreal reality.

Set over a 10-day period that begins with the D-Day invasion at Omaha Beach in Normandy, France, "Saving Private Ryan" features two long battle scenes that confirm Spielberg as the most technically gifted director of his time. They're as graphic, and as disturbing, as anything put on screen, so disturbing even Spielberg backs off from what they real revealed.

Tom Hanks stars as Capt. John Miller, the frightened leader of an eight-man squad that has survived D-Day and has been given the unwanted mission of tracking down a missing soldier, Pvt. James Ryan (Matt Damon). His three older brothers were killed in action and Miller's job is to tell him he's going home.

The battles happen near the beginning and near the end of the movie, taking up about an hour. They're filmed in documentary style: real time, hand-held camera, no music. Then again, Spielberg doesn't need music. He arranges the sounds of war into his own symphony, of bullets pinging off metal and severing flesh, of soldiers vomiting and screaming, of blood pouring out of helmets and dirt exploding into the sky.

The scenes are everything the director could have wanted, and more, because the movie would have worked better without them. Having argued that war is insanity, devastating both for conquerors and conquered, Spielberg follows with a conventional story of heroism and sacrifice. The master of illusion doesn't know what to make of disillusion.

With a running time of 170 minutes, "Saving Private Ryan" is structured like war itself, long periods of boredom between moments of the most horrifying excitement. The film has the look and the feel of greatness, but something is missing.

Hanks' role is underwritten, and so is everyone else's. Despite some talented actors, including Edward Burns, Tom Sizemore and Jeremy Davies, the GIs remain character types rather than characters: a Jew, an Italian, a pencil pusher, a wisecracking New Yorker, a Bible-quoting Southerner. War may be a faceless affair, but war movies shouldn't be.

According to the production notes, Spielberg's intention was to find "decency in the hell of warfare," a search he pursued more thoughtfully in "Schindler's List." Battle footage aside, there's something naive about "Saving

Auditions set for 'Arcadia'

The Arts League Players will hold auditions for a production of Tom Stoppard's "Arcadia." The auditions will be held at the Arts League Players Warehouse/World Headquarters across from the Edwardsville Public Library, at the corner of Kansas and Park, from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

"Arcadia" is a thoughtful comedy about love, landscaping and mathematics. The play calls for a cast of 12, both male and female, ages 12 to 70. The Arts League Players encourage anyone who is interested in any aspect of theater, or with any degree of experience in theater (including none at all), to attend.

Rehearsals begin Aug. 17, with performances set for Sept. 25-26 and Oct. 2-3. All rehearsals and performances will be in Edwardsville.

No prepared material is necessary for the audition. For directions or more information, call 652-0574.

Trivia

Kevin Carbery
By Kevin Carbery
Correspondent

Recently, a friend and I were arguing over the physical attractiveness of actress Minnie Driver. My friend thinks Minnie is rather plain, while I contend that she is a major babe. The debate continues.

The idea of beauty is subjective, of course. Someone considered pretty in one part of the world might not hold the same status in another. Tastes vary from age to age, from country to country, and obviously from person to person.

Of all the women famous today for one reason or another, I consider Elle Macpherson to be the most gorgeous of all, absolutely flawless. While I have heard other people toss out names such as Michelle Pfeiffer and Uma Thurman as their choices as the fairest alive, I will stick with Elle, a supermodel who also is a fine actress in my book.

It is not always easy to understand why one woman is singled out as the object of desire for her generation. For instance, I have seen many photographs of Marilyn Monroe, who set the world on fire during the 1950s. She was good-looking, but there were plenty of other handsome women around while she was. Why she gained so much notoriety for her looks is beyond me.

Over the last decade or so, no woman has promoted herself through her looks and style more than Madonna. Again, this is a pretty girl. However, I find her no more attractive than Geena Davis, who is about the same age and appeared with her in the film "A League of Their Own." Madonna is a famous singer while Geena is an Academy Award-winning actress. Yet, there is little doubt that more people consider Madonna to be a great beauty than there are

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, JULY 30

The Sagittarius moon's favorable aspect to the dignified sun and energetic Mercury in dramatic Leo will help every one overcome the sometimes-uncomfortable feeling associated with Mercury's retrograde motion. You will feel as if communication is much easier for you, but try not to get carried away and reveal more than you would like.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Adherence to a solid business sense turns out to be the wisest decision in the long run. Longtime attachments are worth more than you realize. You will be forced to draw a tactful but firm line with loved ones or neighbors.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). The struggles that have crippled you in the past now seem trivial — consider them rites of passage that fuel your fire. It's not weak to concede a point. Financial success comes when you reapply your self.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). The sweet thrill of competition is the impetus to start something different. In the employ of others, you will be considered dependable and personable and could be a delightful addition to an elite group.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Celebrate the fact that you are special. An important career move raises your status and improves your financial security. A Libra charms you. Motivation returns to you when you fall in love.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). The ease with which you handle the practical chores of life allows you to nurture your lofty thoughts. Your boredom at work hinders a passionate relationship. Let others see your artistic skills.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 31). It's full steam ahead with your newest and best ideas this year. You are especially charismatic this month and can easily attract new people to your team. You could be offered work in communications or the media in September. You might have to make a romantic choice in October. Capricorns and Sagittarians are lucky romantic partners. Your lucky numbers are 11, 27, 44 and 50.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You have intellectual superiority but need someone to promote your abilities. Auditions, interviews and meetings lead to new jobs. Taurus and Libra are excellent signs for you now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You have no choice but to abide by a decision of an authority. Be persistent in love. You have no choice but to abide by a decision of an authority. Be persistent in love.

— a reluctant companion wants to be convinced. Prepare to back up your claims — because you will be asked to do so.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Respect individuality in others, even though it seems to be holding up the process. When lovers ask questions, keep some things to yourself. You are accountable to your own highest consciousness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You are an impulsive idea generator who may need someone to oversee the more mundane details. Jobs that seem out of reach will become obtainable. Test your theories in business or with friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You can be trusted to fulfill any commitment to which you've given your word. Blissful relationships are soon yours, but don't try to replace an old love too quickly. Give it time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You want a more secure position with a loved one. Your living environment must be calm and ordered if you are to burn the creative candles as brightly as you wish. A Libra or Gemini inspires genius in you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). A romance needs supportive encouragement, but you needn't justify your every action to a distrustful lover. More attention should be paid to your work. Overreactions undermine all endeavors.

best known for the children's film "Fly Away Home," John Williams' bland, hymn-like score feels as out of place as the casting of Ted Danson as an Army captain.

Hanks, like Spielberg a symbol of innocence and idealism, makes his first appearance in one of the director's films. Why did they wait so long? They were meant for each other, like Frank Capra and James Stewart. But "Saving Private Ryan" was the wrong project for them. Capra and Stewart, in "It's a Wonderful Life," did a better job of taking us to the abyss and back. Then again, they had just returned from the war.

An Amblin Entertainment production, "Saving Private Ryan" is a joint-presentation of Paramount Pictures and Spielberg's DreamWorks Pictures.

'Everest' coming to Science Center

The first large-format film ever to reach the top 10 box office chart, "Everest" is coming to the St. Louis Science Center's OMNIMAX Theater. From Sept. 11 through Jan. 7, take an expedition to this forbidding mountain through the amazing new OMNIMAX film.

In "Everest," viewers see the beauty and unparalleled magnificence of this mountain on the Tibet/Nepal border.

It tells the dramatic true story of a 1996 journey to the summit, over crackling ice falls, across quaking chasms, up dangerous towering cliffs, through a harrowing rescue of fellow mountaineers and into the mystical danger zone of oxygen-thin altitude.

"Everest" provides fascinating information about the mountain's geology and the physical and mental tolls it takes on climbers. Also discussed is the rich Sherpa culture, an ethnic group that migrated to the southern slopes of Mt. Everest from eastern Tibet some 450 years ago.

To make "Everest," filmmakers needed to pare the bulky IMAX camera down from its usual 80 pounds to 35, and outfit it with special features to withstand Everest's extreme temperatures.

The film features narration by Liam Neeson and music by George Harrison.

Due to the expected popularity of the film, visitors are encouraged to purchase tickets early. General public tickets will be available in September.

Science Center members already can make advance reservations.

"Everest" will be shown hourly: 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-through-Thursday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Additional shows will be added to accommodate demand. Tickets are $6.50 for adults and $5.50 for children ages 3-17 and senior citizens.

Museum touted for Kiel

By Clayton Berry
Staff writer

Members of the St. Louis arts community say that a blues and jazz hall of fame or a museum in the Kiel Opera House are not acceptable ways to revitalize the closed landmark.

They clashed with a panel of outside experts who said returning the performing hall to its former use was unfeasible.

Instead, members of the Urban Planning Institute (UPI) suggest the five-decade old facility be modified to accommodate either a Smithsonian museum or a blues and jazz hall of fame.

However, many in the arts community think those options are not any more viable than reviving Kiel's role as a performing arts center.

"I'm not aware how this will work," said Pat Rich, president of the Arts and Education Council.

Jeff Stewart, of the Windsor Theatre Group, echoed her statements.

"It would be a great shame to ruin it as a performing arts center," he said.

The team of experts was hired for $75,000 by a 38-member city committee studying the Kiel project and established by Comptroller Darlene Green, Clark Enterprises, formerly Kiel Center Partners, and owners of the facility, helped pay for the panel's input.

UPI studied data from St. Louis for several weeks and spent nearly three days interviewing the players and touring downtown and performance venues. Now the committee must review the panel's findings, Green said.

Panelist Robert Bailey, a California planner and researcher, said St. Louis does not have the population or tourists to support another performance center. Such an addition to the landscape could harm the Grand Center and Fox Theatre as well as the proposed center at the University of Missouri-St. Louis campus in Normandy, he said.

"This $50 million performing arts center (at UMSL) needs to be given a chance to succeed or fail."

Two alternatives could be the museum and hall of fame, the panel said. The Smithsonian idea is already being touted by a local group and also calls for the use of other buildings.

The blues and jazz hall of fame, which the panel pushed most, would tie into the city's rich musical heritage, which includes Miles Davis and Scott Joplin.

"These uses have to be economically viable," developer Ranne Warner said. Preliminary figures show it could cost $9 million to renovate Kiel for a museum or the hall of fame. The group suggested ownership of the Kiel should go to a trust fund, made up of city, civic and development leaders who would contribute a total of $25 million. That would aid this project, whatever the option, and other efforts in downtown, they said.
